BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

The City Rulers Discuss Matters Municipal.

The weekly meeting of the board of aldermen was held at the city hall last night. Present: His Worship Mayor Grant in the chair, Aldermen Coughlan, McKillican, Goodacre, Wilson, Harris and Vigelius.

The regular routine business having been disposed of, Clerk Dowler read the following:

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Wm. Hewitson in reference to the erection of a paper mill in this province, and asking for a bonus, light, water, etc., from the city provided the plant was set up in Victoria.

Ald. McKillican moved that a special meeting be called to consider the matter of the communication. It was an important subject and demanded attention. The communication is to lie on the table meanwhile.

From J. S. Gray asking for the position of resident engineer of sewers. Tabled.

From W. M. Chadley again drawing attention to the thousand dollar grant of the board to the Jubilee Hospital. Tabled until report of finance committee is read.

From G. W. Anderson complaining of a nuisance caused by an open drain near Kings Road. Referred to street committee and city surveyor.

From the water commissioner, enclosing copy of the Chief Justice's judgment in the case of Rowland vs. the corporation, in the matter of the Colquitz water rights case. Received and referred back to the city barristers, the water commissioner and the water committee to take steps for the protection of the city.

His Worship spoke at some length on the complaint made, and said he did not consider it a just one.

From the city auditor, enclosing a statement of receipts and expenditures up to date of 30th September. Received and ordered considered by the finance committee.

From chief engineer in reference to the fact that the water cistern corner of Johnson and Government streets was out of repair and needed a new bottom.

Ald. Vigelius spoke of the need of keeping the tanks in good condition. The matter was referred to the fire wardens with power to act.

From John Hinds, asking for a position on the police force. Referred to chief of police and police committee.

From H. Hayes, secretary Union Club, in reference to the bad state of the roadway near the Union Club building. Referred to street committee with power to act.

From the city barristers in reference to the Colquitz water case. Tabled.

From D. H. Johns for the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works enclosing crown grants for certain lands said lands to be the property of the city. Received and ordered to be acknowledged and spread on the minutes.

From Amor De Cosmos pointing out the bad state of Langley street near Bastion street. Referred to street committee with power to act.

From Wm. Atkins asking that a portion of the sidewalk on Dallas road be completed. Referred to the street committee with power to act.

From J. Roland Hett acknowledging receipt of retainer as counsel in the case of the province vs. the corporation. Received and filed.

From S. Perry Mills acknowledging the receipt of retainer for same professional services took a similar course.

From John Robson in reference to the extension of the city limits. Received and spread on the minutes.

His worship said in reference to the extension of the limits it would be better to defer action until the next sitting of the legislature.

DEFERRED BUSINESS.

The revenue by-law was laid over for a week.

The motion to increase the wages of the electric light engineer to $125 per month from the first of October to the first of April, was on motion laid over for another week.

REPORTS.

From the finance committee in reference to the grant of $1000 to the Jubilee hospital, and asking for further time to report. Adopted.

ENLARGING CEMETERY.

The Mayor drew attention to the fact that the cemetery should be enlarged, and said the council should act.

The chairman of the committee explained that the subject was under consideration.

The board then adjourned at 9 p. m.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

British Columbia Rugby Rules Formed.

A regular meeting of delegates appointed by the foot ball clubs in the province for the purpose of forming a provincial union, was held on Friday evening at the office of W. J. Walker & Co., New Westminster. R. B. Lister, captain of the home club, was elected chairman, and there were also present: Messrs. Hammersley and Malcolm, of Vancouver; Honeyman and Potts, of Nanaimo, and the Rev. H. Irwin and W. S. Walker, of New Westminster. The Victoria club promised to appoint two representatives, but as they were not present, Mr. Ransome was invited by the delegates to attend in the interest of that city. After considerable discussion, the following resolutions were passed:

1. That the British Columbia Rugby Union be formed.
2. That W. Hammersley be president.
3. That the captain of each club in the union be ex officio a vice-president.
4. That W. J. Walker be secretary and treasurer of the union.
5. That the president and secretary be ex-officio member of the committee.
6. That a committee of nine members of the Union be appointed, with similar powers for the province of British Columbia, as the committee of the English Rugby Union have for England.
7. That the officers and committee be elected by two delegates from each club in the union, at a general meeting to be held alternately on the mainland and on the island, in the second week of September in each year.
8. That Messrs. Drake, Fripp, Honeyman, Lister, Malcolm, Ransome, Baird, Heathorthwaite and the Rev. H. Irwin be members of the committee.
9. That each club in the union pay an annual subscription of $10.
10. That the rules of the game be those of the English Rugby Union of 1889.
11. That the British Columbia Rugby Union be affiliated to the Rugby Union of England.

Wolfe's remains lie buried in the parish church of Greenwich. Lord Wolseley, who is the ranger of Greenwich park, says there is no memorial there to mark their presence, though, of course, there should be one. It is proposed that a tablet be erected or that a monument be built to perpetuate the memory of the hero.

Mr. Herbert Ward, who was with Stanley in one of his African expeditions, has sailed for New York. He intends to lecture after he has regained his land legs.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES

The Pan-American Congress Delegates Sight-Seeing—A Big Blaze.

What Our Correspondents Have to Say—The Local Opposition Given Advice.

St. Paul, Oct. 10.—Pat Killen has posted a forfeit of $500 here for a fight to a finish with any heavy weight in the country, Joe McAuliffe preferred, for $2500 a side. He says that if McAuliffe will come to St. Paul he will guarantee his expenses. In a letter to a local paper Killen says he dislocated his shoulder in the third round of his recent battle with McAuliffe and was not able to fight after that.

SENTENCED.

Oroville, Cal., Oct. 10. — Edward Looney, a farmer, convicted of manslaughter in killing W. S. Riddle, a wealthy rancher, in a dispute over a piece of land which both claimed, has been sentenced to imprisonment for five years.

FREE DELIVERY.

Washington, Oct. 10. — Postmaster-General Wanamaker will recommend in his annual report that the free delivery system be extended to cities of 8,000 inhabitants. The recommendation is warranted by the fact that the revenues of the free delivery offices for the year will be from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 in excess of expenses.

THE DELEGATES.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 10.—Delegates to the Pan-American congress spent three hours here to-day visiting the manufactories. They then departed for Willimantic.

BIG BLAZE.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 10.—Taylor & Lewis' hydraulic cotton compressor, six cotton sheds and forty-five hundred bales of cotton were burned this morning. The loss is half a million dollars. The cotton was insured in foreign marine companies.

BOTH GO SCOT FREE.

Concord, Mass., Oct. 10.—The cases of Dunham and Orcutt, reformatory officers, and Flagg and Russell, storekeepers, charged with larceny from the State, came up for trial this morning. Assistant District Attorney Cooney stated the evidence was not sufficient, whereupon Judge Keyes ordered the discharge of the defendants.

SUING AN AUTHOR FOR LIBEL.

New York, Oct. 9.—Ex-Mayor Oakley Hall has sued J. Bryce, author of "The American Commonwealth," for libel, placing damages at $10,000. The libelous matter, it is charged, was contained in a notice in that book written by Prof. Frank Goodenough, of the school of Political Sciences in Columbia college, entitled "The Tweed Regime," in the course of which Hall is referred to as having been a member of the Tweed ring. The suit has been brought in London, and it is expected will come to trial about the middle of the month.

PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESSMEN

Visit Manchester, N. H., and Witness a Big Display of Manufactures.

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 8.—The international excursion party were cordially welcomed by Senator Blair and the corporation authorities. The immense buildings devoted to the manufacture of fabrics excited the liveliest interest. Here were the greatest shops in the world, according to statements made by members of the committee, who added that one of the mills contained more indigo than any other concern in Christendom. The foreign visitors heard with amazement that in this comparatively unknown city half a million spindles were working and 14,000 looms were weaving miles per day of fabrics of all kinds.

After looking over the factories the party were escorted to a new mill, where in one half of a great hall, 400x100 feet, had been arranged a display of the textile and other goods produced in Manchester in half of a working day. It made a most formidable showing in its extent, and was, moreover, arranged so as to make an attractive exhibition, ranging from blocks of sprucewood and cotton, and water colors, etc., to indurated wood fabrics and fine paper, pretty checked and striped cloths, needles, etc. When the exhibits had been duly admired, the party were seated at a luncheon furnished by the citizens, and shortly after noon left Manchester on the way to Portland, Maine.

Portland, Me., Oct. 8.—The French Pan-American delegates arrived here at 4 o'clock. The visitors were driven around in carriages, and afterwards taken to the Falmoth House, where an elaborate dinner was served, after which speeches were made.

Senor Mendotes, delegate of Brazil, said his emperor had spoken of the relations between his country and the United States, and had touched upon the future, saying he foresaw a population of 100,000,000 for the United States and 50,000,000 for Brazil, and asked what would then be their power. As to this congress, he had, after discussion of the matter, said America, and he meant all America, could clearly say to Europe that the Americans were trying to feed the Americans themselves. [Applause]. The soul of the Americans was in one place. Their resources and capabilities should, like the small streams of a great central valley, be united in larger and larger courses, until they should flow together like the great Mississippi. [Applause].

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—Senator John Sherman, in a letter published here, says the reason Canada was not invited to participate in the all-American conference was that the United States cannot hold formal relations with the Canadian government owing to the dependence of Canada on Great Britain.

CHINESE EPISCOPAL GUILD.

A New York Church Extends Fellowship to the Coolies.

New York, Oct. 8.—A guild for the benefit of Chinese, under the auspices of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal church, opened last evening. Dr. Greer, pastor of the church, presided, and on the platform were Bishop Potter and Archdeacon Mackay Smith. The purposes of the guild, as explained by Dr. Greer, are to extend Christian fellowship to Chinese and teach Americans to treat them with becoming consideration.

Rooms large and comfortable will be open day and evening for the use of members and their friends. The work is under the management of John Thorne, an American for many years a merchant in China, and who gave up business to devote his life to missionary work in that country. He will be assisted by Guy Man, who addressed his countrymen, 200 of whom were present, on the advantages to be derived from joining the guild. Appropriate remarks were made by Bishop Potter. At the close of the meeting most of the Chinese present signed the roll of membership.

Spratt & Gray, sole agents for this celebrated cylinder and machine oil. A supply constantly kept on hand.

THE ESQUIMALT DANCE.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—Having noticed in your issue of last evening a local announcement to the effect that the proceeds of a dance held last night at Esquimalt were to swell the organ fund of the Craigflower congregation, kindly permit me through the same channel to give to this statement a respectful but unqualified denial. No such action was ever considered by the congregation; no such entertainment was ever held under its auspices; no farthing of its proceeds goes for the purchase of an organ or for any other of the interests of the congregation. The information must have come from some non-Presbyterian source, as the Canada Presbyterian Church has yet, I think, to count its first dollar accruing from an entertainment of the kind referred to. R. E. KNOWLES.

ANOTHER EXPLANATION.

To the Editor of The Times:

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me a few lines in your valuable paper, to state that I was considerably surprised, and I might add, amused, to perceive in your issue of last evening how "Capt. Cavin explains." He states that he was coming through Trial Island pass, when he first sighted the sloop. As far as I can remember, we, in the sloop, were attempting to double the outside headland of Trial Island, when we sighted the top and side lights of a steamer far astern. We at once put about, and with a strong breeze and tide in our favor, stood towards the approaching vessel. When we came up on the Daisy, Trial Island pass could not be less than two miles astern of us, and ahead of the Daisy. As Capt. Cavin states, he ported his helm as we approached, and I immediately starboarded, hoping in this way to convince the Daisy by a close pass that we wished to speak to her. We had a good breeze at this time, and complete control of the sloop. In answer to our hail, we received what sounded very clearly to us "We are not going to Victoria," and with that the steamer held on her course. The captain excuses himself on the ground of having two scows in tow, and yet he states in the face of this, there was a strong tide and breeze blowing in from the southwest. Now, I ask anyone in the ordinary course of reason, how the scows could possibly interfere with the stopping of his vessel, as the tide would naturally continue to keep them floating astern. He states we could have made fast to one of the scows and I emphatically state such a thing was utterly impossible, considering how the scows were travelling. I could certainly have run alongside one of them in passing, but wisely, I think, refrained from doing so, as I had no desire to intricate matters further, by the loss of my bowsprit and jib. Again he states he did not conceive the men to be in any danger, and yet at the same time refers to their evident inability to handle their boat; danger enough I should fancy, (if such was the case) with a stiff breeze and strong tide astern and a rock-bound coast ahead. The party who was in command of the boat has sailed a yacht on the Firth of Clyde for the past six years, and considers himself quite capable of handling his boat, even when bearing down on the Daisy. A. C. MARTIN.

[NOTE.—We have condensed the above. The matter should now be allowed to rest.—ED.]

PARTY VERSUS NO PARTY.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—In again reverting to the organization of the opposition, I should have done so at an earlier date, but had neither the time or means ready at hand to do so. With this apology, with your permission, Mr. Editor, I will again take up the cudgels. By what means do those composing the so called opposition propose to dislodge the government? By simply folding their arms and requesting the electors to turn them out, or by a large display of rhetorical melange? Verily British Columbia seems to be a veritable Utopia. It wants to show the world that good government can be carried out without party organization. Every student of political history knows that a country to be well governed, should not have an overwhelming majority, for among the best intentioned men abuses of power are bound to creep in; hence the necessity for a strong minority. Governments are, like individuals, naturally morally weak. Talk is cheap, but action speaks for itself. This is one of the glaring defects of the opposition; fond of pointing out the want of policy on the part of the government, without stopping to consider the defects of their own defenceless condition. What purblind folly in not seizing the opportunity given them by the government of having a policy of their own? Oh, what shining lights in the political world! Have we not gumption enough to form a platform of our own? Something more than the hackneyed phrase of "progressive Government." For instance, our policy should be something like this: "The encouragement of immigration and the settlement of the province; the development of colonization roads and construction of railways; the borrowing of loans for the purpose of development; a just and equitable expenditure of the public revenue, and strict economy coupled with a due regard to the efficiency of the public service. But, of course you will allow the Tories to steal your ammunition. They are adepts at this game all the world over, and does it not strike the opposition that their very inaction, or rather want of action in itself forfeits their right to the support of the electors. Did anyone with experience ever go fishing without their hooks, or having its equivalent. So with electors; you must bait them and give them plenty of food for reflection and they are bound to nibble. As well might a party of Victoria sportsmen try to pierce the armour plates of H. M. S. Swiftsure with their shot guns, as for the opposition to think of defeating the government without organization. We are told that we don't want to become party-ridden like the east, but how much better to be party-ridden than to be ring-ridden. Ring, is an ugly word and smacks of the precincts of the police court. The bye-election in Victoria speaks for itself—a good, popular man against a weak government one. Again it is urged that certain influences were at work. Now what is to prevent the same influences being used at the general election? If the opposition want a repetition of the last general election they are on the right road to do so, and then don't go and blame the apathy of the electors when you suffer another defeat; but rather your own want of action. What is wanted is to get rid of this old fogyism, or is the filthy lucre the bugbear? Surely there are scores of men ready to give their services without remuneration. Honors not worth fighting for are not worth having. By all means organize, and in the van you'll find the look out.
I. C. U.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

Preparations at Berlin For Reception of the Czar—Bismarck a Peacemaker.

Montreal Frenchmen Offer an Asylum to Boulanger—A Pioneer's Death.

Berlin, October 10.—General Werder will meet the Czar at Kiel and accompany him to Berlin. The First Regiment of Guards, together with a company of the Alexander regiment, will act as a bodyguard to the Czar en route from Kiel to Berlin. After arriving at the Capital his escort from the railway station to the Russian Embassy will consist of four squadrons of cavalry, two riding in front of the Imperial carriage and two behind. The most stringent precautions have been taken to prevent the possibility of an approach of the public to His Majesty's person. Besides troops which will be stretched out in solid columns on each side of the route, police officials in citizens' clothes will be thickly scattered along the edge of the crowds, with instructions to watch for any suspicious movement on the part of any individuals or groups of people. The precautions taken, it is understood, are at the express wish of the Czar himself, whose secret police have warned him that the greatest care should be taken during his stay in Berlin.

CENTRAL AMERICAN REPUBLIC.

La Libertad, Oct. 8.—The Central American congress has so far held three sessions. The delegates are working harmoniously together toward completing the list of articles applicable to the future republic of Central America.

A BAVARIAN FIRE.

Berlin, Oct. 10.—A fire which broke out in the town of Ostheim, in Bavaria, early this morning, destroyed a brewery, several stores, a hotel and a number of warehouses and other buildings. The loss is heavy.

PLAYING FOR HIGH STAKES.

Berlin, Oct. 9.—General Weider and Kalien Bernstadhus will attend the Czar during his stay in the German capital. Arrangements have been made for the most imposing military reception on the arrival of the Czar ever witnessed in Berlin. The entire route from the Lehrter railway station across the Koenigsplatzand as far as the Charlottenburg road, will be lined with cavalry, and beyond this by infantry, up to the gates of the Russian embassy. The vast military preparations for the Czar's welcome and for his diversion during his stay, are on a scale of magnificence without precedent even where foreign potentates have been entertained here before, and it is hinted in certain quarters that this extraordinary array of bayonets is intended quite as much as an impressive reminder of the German arms as for an innocent spectacular entertainment.

WARLIKE EXPENDITURES.

Berlin, Oct. 9.—The military estimates to be presented to the Reichstag will not provide for the increase in the effective strength of the army, as has been expected. The sum of 120,000,000 marks to be asked for, is to provide new artillery, arms and ammunition.

Emperor William, wearing the uniform of a British admiral, hoisted to-day on board the British warship Northumberland, the flagship of Admiral Baird. The German naval officers stationed at Kiel will give a banquet this evening to the officers of the British fleet.

GENEROUS FRENCHMEN.

A Body of Montreal Frenchmen Offer Boulanger an Asylum.

Special to The Times.]

Montreal, Oct. 10.—At a meeting of the old French colony here last night, it was unanimously resolved that General Boulanger should be invited to take up his residence among his compatriots in Montreal till such time as he shall be recalled to France to rule her destinies. A committee was named to draft a formal invitation to the General.

BISMARCK A PEACEMAKER.

The Iron Chancellor Seeking to Heal Strained Relations.

New York, Oct. 10.—The Mail and Express' Rome cable says: "It is currently reported in Rome that Prince Bismarck has urged upon Signor Crispi the advisability of making pronounced endeavors to lessen the unfortunate tension which at present exists between Italy and France. This strained relation of the two powers is really the most menacing thing of the day in relation to the European situation, and is more likely to burst into flames and occasion serious alarm for the peace of the continent than even the palpable material preparations of Russia and Austria for war. France and Italy are in a sensitive mood without being altogether prepared for an outbreak of hostilities. In this situation Bismarck sees cause for some fear of trouble.

Bismarck also asks Premier Crispi to modify, so far as possible, the struggle of the Italian government with the Vatican, which is also, although a matter of minor importance in international affairs, in a state of irritation and extremely uncomfortable element in diplomatic intercourse. The chancellor prefers that the Pope should look upon Germany as his friend, and desires to maintain the most amicable relations with the Vatican as well as with King Humbert. He has been discontented with the situation ever since the Italian prime minister declared war with Leo XIII. It is expected that Signor Crispi will acquiesce in Prince Bismarck's views, and his requests will be indicated in his forthcoming speech at Palermo.

COUNTY COURT.

(Before Sir M. B. Begbie, C.J.)

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

Nicholl vs. W. C. Anderson. This was a claim for $1000 damages for hurts received by complainant falling down an open hatchway in the sidewalk contiguous to the hotel premises of defendant. Mr. E. V. Bodwell appeared for the defence. Mr. A. L. Belyea for the complainant.

Evidence was taken at some length and the Chief Justice in summing up, nonsuited the plaintiff Nicholl on the ground of contributory negligence.

Cameron vs. Marston. This was a claim for recovery of amount of $39 20 due on a promissory note.

After the evidence had been received by His Lordship a verdict for the plaintiff was recorded.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Hon. A. N. Richards, G. C.)

Neil McKinnon was charged with vagrancy. Accused pleaded not guilty, but evidence was given which went to show that the accused was in the habit of sleeping in stables and subsisting in a very precarious manner. It was also shown that during the past few years several terms had been served in jail as a vagrant. A sentence of six months at hard labor was imposed.

A drunk was fined $5 and costs.

THE DISCRIMINATING TAX.

The Nanaimo Free Press on the Question—An Unjust Impost.

The Nanaimo Free Press, discussing a recent article in the Vancouver News, on the school tax question, says:

"Like a well known industrious insect, the sting is in the tail. Neither Victoria nor Nanaimo ever refused to pay a fair percentage towards the support of the high school in their respective cities. Speaking more particularly for Nanaimo, the Free Press is certain that if the government called upon the city to pay even two-thirds of the expense of the high school, there would not be a dissenting voice, and the impost would be cheerfully paid. But, unfortunately for the argument of our Vancouver contempory, such is not the case. The Nanaimo high school costs the Education Department the sum of $1,200 per annum for salary and $150 for incidentals, a total of $1,350; while under the objectionable clause Nanaimo city is called upon to pay $1,920 per annum towards the teachers' salaries. That is a contribution towards the support of a high school with a vengeance. Perhaps our contemporary would tell the proportion Nanaimo pays towards the high school, $1920 is more than one, two, or even three-thirds of $1350. That is where the unjustness of the extra tax on cities makes itself felt. In the matter of the ordinary public schools the cities derive no greater advantage than the rural districts, and it is a well established fact that in proportion to the revenue derived, (independent of this last special impost) education costs far less per capita in the cities than in the rural districts. That being the case, why should the difference be made still more glaring. The obligation of the state to provide education facilities, when it accepts that duty as in this province, is as paramount in the crowded city as it is in the most sparsely populated and inaccessible portion of the province. This is not the first time that the argument has been adduced that the impost is for the support of the high schools, but the figures for this city show that plea to be an absurdity. If the cities were called upon to pay a fair share towards the expense of the high schools, with a voice in their management, no objection would be raised. Under the present proposals it is certainly taxation without representation, for the appointing of the Mayor as Chairman of the Board of School Trustees gives no voice in the management of the schools, beyond the appointing of such teachers as the Education Department will furnish the salaries, and the expenditure of a few hundred dollars for incidentals."

FROM ALBERNI.

Death of Mrs. Mollett, Sen.—Rev. Mr. Macleod's Visit—Personal, Etc.

It is with deep regret that we record the death of Mrs. John Mollett, senr., who expired on Thursday, Oct. 3rd, after a painful illness, of dropsy, at the ripe old age of 82 years. The deceased was born at St. Peterport, Guernsey, and emigrated from Jersey with her husband and family over a generation ago to the province of Ontario, and again migrated to the Pacific province, arriving in Alberni five years ago. The funeral arrangements were conducted by Mr. G. A. Huff, and the burial sermon preached by our acting minister, Mr. G. Lockhart. Messrs. H. Nicholas, C. A. Cox, C. Solt and Wm. Smith being the pall bearers. The funeral took place in a downpour of rain, and was very largely attended by the settlers. The grave was decorated with beautiful floral tributes by loving hands. The deceased lady was among the first of the pioneer settlers and the first woman to receive interment. The condolence of the settlers is tendered to the family in their sad bereavement.

Alberni received a visit from one of Victoria's Presbyterian ministers, the Rev. Mr. McLeod, who preached on Sunday, 29th September, a very interesting sermon in connection with the administering of the holy communion to several communicants, and the reverend gentleman held a meeting on Monday evening and spoke about the grievances which the settlement labored under.

The weather has been shockingly unruly, hail, rain, wind and electricity intermingled, but notwithstanding the depressed state of the atmosphere the air is filled with rumors. Rumor sayeth that the Hon. Jno. Robson will visit Alberni, probably with an eye to other rumors. Rumor also promises the Barbara Boscowitz to make monthly trips. Whether the promises can be attributed to the atmospheric depression or the atmospheric depression attributed to the promises, I shall leave to others to worry their brains over, but if the promises prove to be stronger than fiction the public will be duly inspired by I.C.U.

PROHIBITION IN IOWA.

Although we have always doubted the efficacy of prohibition, believing that prohibition does not prohibit, we can do no less than present the other side of the question as exemplified in the State of Iowa. JOHNSON BRIGHAM writes to the Century Magazine that the saloon does still linger on the borders of the State, but that it maintains "a precarious, characterless, hole-in-the-wall existence; its political prestige gone." Crime also has fallen off. In 1882, the cost of criminal prosecutions was $401,431.18. In 1888, the total cost of criminal prosecution was reduced to $361,173.78, a saving of over $40,000. In 1884, the presidential year, there was a slight increase of criminal expenses, and in 1885 and '86, years which were marked by the return of the saloon, the criminal expenses for the year last named reached $421,024.31. In 1887, however, they were reduced to $232,877.66; but in 1888, during the space of ten months, they aggregated $330,424.06. In 1882, the sum "total of trailing" crimes was 634; that of 1282 for 1888. There were nine murders and six manslaughters in 1882; in 1888, there were 14 murders and one manslaughter, a showing rather against prohibition. However, out of all the States of the Union, save that of Vermont, Iowa has the smallest percentage of convicts at the present time. Regarding the opinion of judges in the matter, in response to questions put by the Governor of the State, we make the following excerpts. One judge says the "law is as well enforced as any other, and has decreased criminal expenses two-thirds." Another says: "This was the first and only term in my recollection that there was no criminal business transacted in court." Judge GRANGER, now of the Supreme Bench, remarks "that the closing of the front door of the saloon has destroyed it as a social resort, and cancelled nine-tenths of the drunkenness." Adverting to the representations of newspaper correspondents for journals in large cities that prohibition "has killed" Iowa, Mr. BRIGHAM points out that there are now 500 more school houses in the state than in 1883, their aggregate value exceeding half a million. As to Iowa's "surplus" in 1883 there was in the savings banks over $8,000,000, in 1888 over $14,000,000. These figures show pretty plainly that prohibition has not "killed" Iowa, but it does not establish the fact that Iowa would not have been equally as prosperous under saloon rule. The maintenance of prohibition in Iowa may be attributed almost solely to the character of its population which is mostly transplants from the New England states, or their descendants. On the other hand the defeat of prohibition in New Hampshire and Massachusetts may be largely owing to the fact that the aboriginal Yankee has gone west, leaving his native hills to be peopled by aliens.

TUBERCULOSIS IN CATTLE AND ITS COMMUNICABILITY TO MAN.

The committee appointed by the Dominion government to enquire into tuberculosis in cattle, have issued their report. Information on this subject has been received from the best sources in the world. Inquiries were addressed to the Royal Agricultural Society of England. An application was accordingly made to the Privy Council, and a blue book, containing some 4,000 questions and answers, was received, together with the report of the committee, the latter being the deliberately formed opinions of some of the most capable men and highest authorities in the United Kingdom upon certain matters of very great value, and the subcommittee has considered it advisable to embody their report in an appendix, the full majority report, as well as the minority report of Professor Horsley, on the subject of tuberculosis.

The result of a searching investigation by leading experts in the state of Maine into the nature of the disease was also procured, as well as valuable information from a bulletin on tuberculosis issued by Professor GOODILL, of the Halch Experimental Station of Massachusetts. From analysis of the reports of the medical practitioners it is ascertained that they believe that from 10 to 50 per cent. of cases of disease and premature death might be prevented by judicious sanitary measures; that consumption is contagious and infectious, and isolation would assist in prevention, but that the chief preventable causes of diseases are contagion, impure air and water, unhealthy diet, decaying animal and vegetable matter, bad drainage, general want of cleanliness and sudden changes of temperature, and the ordinary measures are suggested as palliatives; and some report glanders as having been communicated from horses to men; others mention skin diseases, and a few express the opinion that tuberculosis may be transmitted to the human system, as well as diphtheria, by the medium of impure milk and meat; but few have met with actual cases in their own experience of disease being so communicated. They consider tuberculosis in domestic animals is produced by improper feeding and unhealthy surroundings.

EACH in 1881 discovered that the tuberculosis originated in a rod shaped microbe that entered the body and caused the growth of tubercles in the following ways: By inhalation, by swallowing, by direct introduction as by means of a scratch or a cut. Further it was hereditary, and might be transmitted to man from the lower animals by any of these methods, and especially by the "ingestion of tubercular or diseased milk." The disease is very common among cattle, and it is estimated that nearly 80 per cent. of the cattle killed in London are infected more or less by this disease, and the Jews, who have very strict religious laws on this subject, it is said condemn as unfit for human food about 55 per cent of the cattle killed by them, chiefly because they are affected with tuberculosis. The disease among the the human race is also terribly common. In 1888 one-fourth of all the deaths in Paris were from this cause, and without any figures at hand to show what the ratio is in this country, it may be supposed that this disease is among the most common of dangerous diseases in Ontario.

FISH CULTURE.

A recent article in the Mail claimed as the principal cause of the large catch of salmon on the Fraser river the millions of fry planted by the government hatchery. A correspondent of the same journal—W. H. ROGERS, late Inspector of Fisheries for Nova Scotia—disputes the claim made for the hatcheries, and as his views have local bearing, we copy them in full:

1. It is true that salmon mature from babyhood to a full-grown fish in five years.

2. It is true that not over from one-quarter to one-eighth of one per cent. of the salmon fry planted in a river either by nature or art escape their natural enemies to become a full grown salmon.

3. It is also true that not one in six to ten of these full-grown salmon are caught and enters into human food. With these generally recognized and common sense facts before us, let us see what share artificial culture has had in creating the boom in the catch of salmon on the river above referred to.

We are informed that the first planting of 1,807,000 fry took place in the year 1885, and that this has been continued in increasing numbers since until in 1889 5,807,000 were planted. Now, as a salmon is five years in maturing (and Mr. Wilmot has claimed a longer period in some of his reports), the planting of the last four years could not have had the slightest possible share in producing the claimed salmon boom on the Fraser. Hence to the 1,807,000 planted in 1885 must be accorded the full credit of it. Now, according to the positions already stated and fully established by the results of fish culture everywhere, but ½, say ¼, of 1 per cent. of these 1,807,000 lived to be five years of age. That would amount to just 4,517 fish as they swim. But it is not at all likely that one in ten of these were caught during the catch of the past year, and which caused the "boom," but I will say one in five were caught, which would be just 903 salmon! which caused the enormous catch referred to by the articles under consideration.

I am a firm believer in both the value and importance of pisciculture, but my nature instinctively rebels against putting the science in false positions by making false claims in its behalf, and thus bring it in ridicule and contempt. It is true that a wise Creator has made the conditions such that man can produce food in the water as upon the land. But it is also true in both cases that "in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," and fair interest and wages for capital and labor judiciously expended and industriously performed is all that best experience or good common sense ought to expect. To write up the idea that there is "millions in it" is not only unwarranted but it is a "delusion and a snare," and will eventually result in the people demanding that public aid be withdrawn from its support.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It looks like the EARL's bird catches the worm.

The Rush's bottom is found to be covered with weeds. Perhaps that's why Victoria sealers told her to "go to grass."

Signs of reformation are already apparent in the Vancouver World. It has a good word to say for the latest Gladstonian victory.

The bottom has fallen out of the Oklahoma boom with a nauseating thud. Eighteen lumber yard discontinuances at Guthrie are reported this week in a bunch. The slogan at first was, "Oklahoma or bust;" now the cry is, "Get out of Oklahoma or bust." It was quite evident from the start that the prospective lumber demand in Oklahoma was being wildly over-estimated.

The poverty of London receives daily increment from agricultural England. The land is going out of use. One can travel many miles without finding a furrow or a crop, even in the counties where formerly the tillage was universal. When the Queen mounted the throne the grain production was thirteen bushels per inhabitant. Now it is eight. Rents have risen, while the area under cultivation has diminished. The young men who ought to be farming crowd into London and increase the pressure for subsistence in the stratum where already it is most excessive. They are without trades or education or skill of any kind. They must be laborers, and the docks are their first resort.

If a "wishy washy" article can produce a kick from the Colonist, what would be the effect of an article treating of the cut-throat political policy of that paper which was the reverse of "wishy washy?" A conscience which is so easily disturbed as that of the Colonist's is pretty good evidence of the application of its energies to base purposes. We have given the Colonist an opportunity to declare itself as to the Restriction Act, but it evades the question by declaring without a shadow of evidence that the issue is not yet before the people. Such a shallow dodge as this won't work. If the Colonist is in favor of the repeal of the Restriction Act, why does it not say so? However, we can take a hint without a kick. The sheet which burns the midnight oil, concocting editorials exculpatory of DEWDNEY's little Chinese fealer, has, without doubt, joined hands with the plutocracy, and from now henceforward may be regarded their organ. Only that the Colonist knows in its heart that it is engaged in a conspiracy to ruin the labor market of this province in the interest of a few local speculators, it would not be so touchy when a "wishy washy" article is fulminated against it, or at least it would undertake a manly and straightforward rejoinder: "Now you stop that, you mean thing," kind of an answer to our accusations is the resource of weakness. If the Colonist had a case, if it was not endeavoring to play a double game, it would endeavor to prove that our charges are unfounded.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—It would be a gross injustice to confound that standard healing agent—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—with the ordinary unguents, lotions and salves. They are oftentimes inflammatory and astringent. This oil is, on the contrary, eminently cooling and soothing when applied externally to relieve pain, and powerfully remedial when swallowed.

—Mrs. E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, Warren county, N. Y., writes: "She has been troubled with asthma for four years, had to sit up night after night with it. She has taken two bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and is perfectly cured. She strongly recommends it, and wishes to act as agent among her neighbors."

REQUISITION

To THOMAS EARLE, Esq.

DEAR SIR:

AYLE. CROW HAKES, Esq., M. P., has resigned his seat in the Dominion House of Commons, we, the undersigned electors of Victoria City and District, beg you to allow yourself to be placed in nomination as a candidate for the vacant seat.

We do this because we feel that at the present time it is imperative that Victoria should have the best men that can possibly be got to look after her interests; and as your business capacity, your large interests here, and your general fitness for the position, are so well known to us, we hereby pledge you our hearty support if an election is necessary.

REPLY.

GENTLEMEN:—I thank you most heartily for your very numerously signed requisition asking me to allow myself to be placed in nomination as a candidate to represent you in the Dominion House of Commons, and also for your expressions of confidence as to my fitness for the position.

I have much pleasure in acceding to your request, and can assure you that if elected I will do my utmost in the interest of this constituency and Province, according to the present administration a generous but independent support.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
THOMAS EARLE.

THE LORE OF HAIDA.

I.—THE RAVEN

The Raven inhabited the air, under the grey clouds over the dark sea, and had no place to rest. Weary, he beat the water with his wings, and splashed it in the air. Then the falling water was transformed to rock, a place where he found rest. Anon he extended land on every side fringing the American coast from Vancouver Island northwards to the isles of Sitka Mouth, off the Alaskan shores. This was the land of Haida, the Queen Charlotte Islands, created by might of the Great Raven in the Western sea.

The Raven stood upon the northern shore and made him slaves, figured of clam shells on the beach, and made them human; and when he gave them life they cried to him, "We are not finished!" So the Raven threw a limpet at one, which became a woman, and the other a man. These were the first of mankind.

The Creator lived at Rose Spit, the northeastern point of Graham Island, and had the man slave to serve him and the woman slave to wife, but she bore him no issue. Then the Raven soared upwards into the lonely sky over the lonely sea, until he came to the vault of heaven, and struck it, cleft it with his beak, tore it asunder and entered the place above. Here he found a population, and an hierarchy of Chiefs under the Great Chief. Here were towns and cities, lands and seas, a moon and stars, and a hot sun over all. Then he saw the Great Chief and said: "I also shall be an hierarch of the land of Haida, and shall have issue in a nation such as this." Therefore he stole the sun, the pie-stick and a child, whom he found playing disguised as a bear-cub with his mates, son of a heaven chief, and fled towards the place whence he had entered heaven. But he was pursued, and in the flight the child fell down through the space in the floor of heaven; fell down, down into the sea. The Raven descended, wheeling in vast circles through space, bearing the pie-maker and the sun to the lower earth. When the child fell down into the sea he cried for help and the little fishes came in great shoals and bore him on their backs to the shore, wherefore that kind of fish is dinted in the back to this day.

The Heaven child grew in the house of the Raven very fair and strong. When he called to the fish they came in great shoals to bear him upon the sea. When he called to the birds they came in great numbers to carry him through the air. The sun and the pie-maker were shut in the Raven's house in strong places.

As the child grew into a man he loved the slave wife of the raven, but he, the Raven, learning this, the lovers had to escape his wrath, carrying with them the chest that contained the treasure of the Raven. Day after day they wandered southward, down the eastern shore without food and in great fear. And very hungry, the woman sat down and cried, where they had found a dead otter but could not eat it. Then the young man made fire with his fire stick, and the two prepared and ate the body of the otter and went on their way. But again they hungered, but he whistled and the sea went back from the shore leaving four great whales stranded. Lest they escape the young man barred them in with many rocks, which are to be seen at the present time. The two fed upon the whale flesh until they reached the channel between Graham and Moresby Islands, and built a house there at the place called Skidegate. There they lived many years, and a daughter was born to them and grew to be a lovely woman, but there was no mate for her. At last there came from the north the Raven's man slave that he had made at the first; and this slave desired the girl to wife. But her father was angry at the thought of his heaven blood being mated to a slave, and would not have him for a son. Still the Slave lived a while with them and talked with the woman who had been made at the time of his creation, and who was like his sister to him. In time he drew from her the secret of the place where the chest of the Raven's treasure had been hid, a strong house heavily built near by. The Heaven Chief, on the Slave's last appeal for his daughter's hand, kicked him from his house; and in revenge, the Chief being gone, the Slave descended through the smoke hole of the strong house where lay the chest of the Raven's treasure. He broke open the box and began to kick the Sun in his anger until it was broken and the fragments flew up through the smoke hole. The largest piece became our sun, a smaller one the moon, and all the stars are chips scattered upon the face of heaven.

Seeing that there was no wife for him on earth the Slave found that he must, as the Raven had once done, seek that which he lacked in heaven. He therefore shot an arrow into the moon so that it stuck there. A second arrow he shot into the notch of the first, a third into the notch of the second, and so on until a chain of arrows reached the earth. Up this he climbed to heaven, and stealing the first girl he found fled to the earth again. But the Raven found him, and very angry, took the girl as his own wife and drove away the Slave from him. He cursed the Slave and bade him be a wanderer forever, to be the growth of every living thing, of plant, of tree, of beasts, and fish, and fowl, of man and all that breathes the breath of life. So does Growth wander now upon the earth, and shall wander until the end of all things. For at the last the Raven shall call him, and he shall have an end.

II.—THE MOON.

The Haida moon met with several misadventures in early times, but every tribe had a moon of its own, so the consequences were not of widespread terror. The Raven had seen in heaven that each tribe had a moon, and the same arrangement was followed upon earth to general satisfaction. Once, however, the Beaver ate of the Haida moon, probably by inadvertence, and the Raven had to supply a new one, which is in use at the present time. Her life was not uneventful, and once she was chased by the sun up Nass River into the Mainland interior, and got no food for six weeks. About spring time, being desperately hungry, she demanded provisions of her worshippers, who produced the little oolachans which were made to run in immense numbers up the river. The Sun people, however, invented the salmon to eat up the oolachans, and it was only at the intervention of the Wanderer who fought the salmon that the poor little fish were rescued and still run up the Nass undiminished every spring.

The Moon is not to be insulted with impunity. A very naughty boy was sent to gather sticks, but wouldn't go, saying it was dark. The father made him go, telling the Moon would presently rise and make everything as clear as day. So the boy went, and presently the moon rose so that there was no excuse left to disobey. He stood by the sea and mocked the Moon, and traced it with hage's to nose, and made the Moon angry. Presently a big man came down and grabbed this little boy; and he may be seen up in the moon now with the bundle of sticks over his shoulders.

Queer Freak of an Indian Mother—General Notes.

Dame Rumor has it that one of our worthy gentlemen is within a few days, to take a smiling bride. It would be unjust to give the names at present; suffice it to say both are well known and highly esteemed, hence everyone will join in very best wishes.

A case came to our notice recently of a dusky mother attempting to leave her papoose to the nurture and admonition of a stranger, in this particular instance a young man of 19. The unnatural mother gave life child, aged about one year, to this young man, saying that she had to go quickly and get her older boy out of the boat. Very kindly was the babe cared for until two hours elapsed and no mother put in an appearance, no suspicion being felt, search was made, with the result revealing that the infant parent had taken water way for Uncle Sam's land. A hot pursuit was the next procedure, and happily, after several miles were distanced the whole affair was settled by giving, by means akin to force, the frail creature to its inhuman progenitor.

We understand that Messrs. Brethour Bros. are still busy at their prospecting mine.

—The aldermen got through their weekly business in short order last night, it being but a little past nine when the board adjourned. Shorter hours of labor is the rule just now and the city fathers appear to be following the tendency of the times.

—A miner named James Larose met with a serious accident in No. 3 mine at Chase river, of the New Vancouver Coal Company. He had fired a shot and was in the act of returning to ascertain what the shot had done, when he was struck by a large piece of falling rock. His jaw was broken.

—Messrs. Robt. Ward & Co., agents for the London and Lancashire Insurance Co., sent a check for $25 to Chief Engineer Deasy yesterday to be used toward making the new quarters of the men more attractive. The men hope to be able to purchase a billiard table and this donation will be a good nest egg for the fund.

—The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held at the rooms last night. Reports were received and adopted. The financial committee's budget for the ensuing year calls for $3300, $1200 of which is already available, and the balance will be arranged soon. Other minor business was also transacted.

—Since the first of January, 1889, only 29 inches of rain have fallen at Westminster. The mean annual rainfall is 59 inches and to strike an average it will be in order to expect 10 inches per month for the remainder of the year. In consequence of this the inhabitants of the Royal City are laying in a stock of umbrellas and rubber boots.

A Big Deal.

A local syndicate has purchased within the past few days twenty acres of the Tolmie estate, advantageously situated, paying therefore $20,000. The intentions of the syndicate in regard to the realty are not made known yet.

Sunday Law in Vancouver.

A case of violation of the Sabbath law has been tried in the Vancouver police court. The party was J. Isen, who exposed goods for sale on Sunday contrary to the statutes of Charles II. A fine of $1 without costs was imposed. An appeal was at once entered.

For Alaska.

The Corona, bound for Alaska was due here to-day, but a telegram received by agents states that a delay has occurred and consequently the vessel will not leave for the north until Saturday, probably during the afternoon. This is her last trip north for the season.

St. Ann's Orphans' Fair.

In connection with this fair a concert will be held on the evenings of each day, at which a number of the most talented local vocalists and performers, with the additional attraction of the now celebrated Mr. Loseby, of H. M. S. Swiftsure, will take part. Admission fee 25 cents. Refreshments 25 cents. 8 3t

The Martha.

The board of surveyors who examined the lumber laden bark Martha, now lying in Esquimalt harbor, are of the opinion that the vessel is in a seaworthy condition to proceed on her voyage to Shanghai, and have so reported. The board is composed of Capt. Clarke, Capt. Lewis and another gentleman.

Cedar Hill.

A musical and theatrical entertainment will be held in the school room, Cedar Hill, on Friday, October 11th, at 8 p. m., for the purpose of augmenting the fund for removal of the old mission room from the present site. A free 'bus will leave the Clarence Hotel for Cedar Hill at 7 p. m., returning after the entertainment.

The Bazaar.

The St. Ann's bazaar is still in progress and meeting with deserved success. Last evening a concert heightened the enjoyment, and another one will be given this evening. The lunch table has been well patronized to-day and will net a goodly sum. The bazaar will close this evening and indications point to a gala time before winding up.

Improvement Mooted.

The Foresters of this city are discussing the advisability of purchasing a lot in the city and erecting a hall thereon. Many are in favor of the idea, and as the lodges have a healthy surplus on hand, nearly $20,000, the scheme will probably be carried into effect. The total membership of the local Foresters' lodges is two hundred and seventy.

Minstrels To-Night.

Among the attractions for this evening is performance at the Victoria theatre of the Snowflake minstrels of H.M.S. Swiftsure. A lengthy and good programme has been prepared and the chances are that the minstrels will be as good as professionals. The entertainment, however, commends itself to the citizens who feel inclined to support the object in view—the furtherance of the Jubilee Hospital.

The Wily Heathen.

For a long time past a number of Chinese market gardeners have been peddling vegetables throughout the city without licenses. The members of the police force were not very active in discovering the illegal action, but lately Officer Irvine, the latest appointment to the force, took up the matter, and with success, for the Johns on being cornered at once hied themselves to the City Hall and obtained their licenses, which amounted to nearly $100 all told.

Sale of Fancy Work.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church have prepared a large quantity of articles—fancy and useful—which they will offer for sale on Wednesday evening next, 16th inst., in the school room in connection with the church. The ladies do not hold a bazaar, but affix to every article a reasonable price at which it will be sold. Former sales have been very successful, and the coming one promises to be as well patronized and as remunerative as that of last year.

The Mary Ellen.

A telegram was received in the city this morning from San Francisco, announcing the arrival there last night of the sealing schooner Mary Ellen, Capt. Alex. McLean, from Behring Sea, with 1250 skins on board. There was an impression that the vessel had 2200 skins, but this is contradicted by parties who pretend to know. The Mary Ellen is a Victoria sealer and should have come to this port. It is understood that litigation will take place in the matter.

The Glad Tidings.

After a stay in port of little over a week, the missionary steamer Glad Tidings left for the north at noon to-day. Rev. Mr. Crosby remained behind, but will take the train in the morning and join the vessel at Departure Bay, where fuel will be taken on. After that the staunch little steamer will sail northward, calling at all ports, inlets and bays where settlements exist. After leaving Fort Simpson a trip far north will be made. Mr. Crosby does not expect to again visit Victoria till next spring.

A Good Move.

The dangerous little catapult must go. Supt. of Police Sheppard has so ordained in language that was easily understood by the boys of the public schools yesterday in a sharp little speech delivered by the worthy official. A collection of catapults was taken up and pocketed by Supt. Sheppard, who explicitly stated the penalty of the law on the question. While he was present a complaint was handed in about catapults from a resident of Fort street, and this was used to advantage. Private schools will be visited by the superintendent for the same object.

The Victoria Leased.

Manager J. T. Howe, of Portland, has obtained an annual lease of the Victoria theatre, the necessary documents having been made out yesterday afternoon. He will now include Victoria in the circuit of all attractions handled by him, and as it is well-known fact that only first-class companies are touched by Manager Howe, the theatre going public can rest assured that no more barn-storming troupes will annoy them in the future. Among the coming attractions booked to appear here are Hermann, the great illusionist, who will perform two nights, October 22nd and 23rd; Liberati's Band of 45 pieces, the 1st and 2nd of November. Both these are of startling merit, and on Manager Howe's list are some of the best productions of the American stage in the way of drama and comedy. All really first-class attractions will call here and the winter amusements will be plenty.

Grand Lodge of I. O. G. T.

The Grand Lodge continued its session yesterday, routine business being transacted. Last evening the election of executive officers was held, resulting as follows: G. C. T., D. McGillivray (re-elected), Peerless Lodge; G.V.T., Sister Charming, Vancouver Lodge; G. C., Jas. Hastie, Perseverance Lodge; G. Secretary, S. Gough, Onward Lodge; G. S. J. T., Sister M. Jenkins, Triumph Lodge; G. Treas., W. E. Losee, Perseverance Lodge; G. Chap., Rev. Bryant, New Era Lodge; G. M., W. E. Johnstone, Harmony Lodge; P.G.C.T., Rev. Wood, Kamloops Lodge; Bro. D. McGillivray was elected representative to the Right Worthy Grand Lodge, and Sister M. Jenkins alternative; Bro. Sweet was elected Deputy R.W.G.T.

After the elections the delegates were entertained by Perseverance Lodge, a very pleasant time being had.

Brunswick Hotel.

The best place in town to get a 25 cent dinner is the Brunswick Hotel.

ROBBED A WHARF.

Water Thieves Get Away with a Lot of Stuff.

Early yesterday evening a telephone message was sent to Supt. of Police Sheppard from Capt. Babbington, of James Bay, stating that a quantity of stolen property had been found in the bush near McCaulay's Point. The superintendent and Officer Levin at once went to Capt. Babbington's place, where they were informed that the property was across the water. A boat was procured and on reaching the place where the property was it was found to consist of various and sundry articles, chief among which was a large trunk. This had been burst open and ransacked, although it cannot be yet known whether anything was taken or not. Besides the trunk was two boxes of crackers, a quantity of meat, bread, etc., paint pots and brushes, tea-kettles, Japanese brackets, trays, kerosene lamps, bags of flour, and as the auction bills says, various articles too numerous to mention.

The police took possession of the find and the major part of it was brought to the city and placed in the office of the chief. This morning the balance of it was taken charge of by the provincial police, the property being found in their jurisdiction. On inquiries being made, it was found that a steamer had taken the trunk down to Turner Beeton & Co.'s wharf, for shipment on the Rainbow to Saanich on Monday. The trunk was owned by Mr. Angus B. McNeil, a school teacher at Saanich, who left here on the Rainbow on Tuesday morning to take charge of his school. In the trunk were many articles of value, wedding presents to Mrs. McNeil, silk dresses, clothing, rings, etc.

It was also discovered by the police that most of the other stuff had also been taken from the wharf, and it was believed that it was taken away in a boat on Monday night, the thieves taking it across the water, where the trunk was burst open. It is more than likely they were disturbed while ransacking it, as they would never have overlooked the many articles of value it contained had they time to get away with it.

The police have as yet obtained no clue to the thieves, and the chances of discovery are small, as the goods were taken in the night time from the wharf and it will be a hard job to trace the robbers.

LINES OF THE HAND.

A Professor of Palmistry Interviewed by a "Times" Reporter.

Palmistry has long been claimed as a science, by which those familiar with it could tell the best business career for the person, and also describe correctly events of the past and foretell future ones. No professors of this art have visited Victoria until within the past few days, and the one now here is said to be the best on the continent.

The TIMES sent a representative to interview Mrs. Dr. Yolande, at the Poodle Dog hotel, that lady being the one who poses as a palmist. Many people are of the idea that mediums, fortune-tellers, etc., are all humbug. Those parties in nearly all cases pretend that a select coterie of disembodied spirits are the source of the mysterious information which they impart, and the reporter was prepared to see something of the same. He was disappointed in that respect, however, for Mrs. Yolande does not pretend to found her predictions on anything so intangible. She asserts that the lines of the hand are indicative of the character and temperament of the person, and that those lines also change in their character at times of the life preceding important events, or become fixed after they have transpired.

The TIMES reporter found Mrs. Yolande a pleasant conversationalist, and pretending no magic or trickery. She asked the news man to place his right hand on the table before her. This being done she at once commenced to read the lines, and it must be admitted that her interpretations of the past life of the interviewer was wonderfully correct. Several incidents which were known only to himself were mentioned, much to his astonishment. Mrs. Yolande also foretold other events which are to occur, but time alone will determine whether they are correct or not, although a gentleman now in this city states that she told him in 'Frisco several months ago what has since come about.

The study of astrology has also been a specialty of Mrs. Yolande's, she explaining that the planetary influences control largely the destinies of those who are born when particular stars rule. While not posing as a clairvoyant or medium, her accurate replies show that she is possessed of a way of arriving at facts in a much readier manner than that class of people who have of late visited here. She explains all her methods fully and does not mystify and amaze her clients by a lot of spirit raps and trick slate writing.

A RICH VALLEY.

What Messrs. Fannin and Campbell Think of Spallumcheen.

Messrs. John Fannin, of the provincial museum, and D. E. Campbell, druggist, returned a few days ago from the Spallumcheen country, where they had been hunting for several weeks. They were remarkably successful in the chase, seven cariboo and several mule deer and other large game having fallen before their rifles. Mr. Fannin will add to the museum a whole Cariboo family—male, female and calf—and a great many varieties of birds and small animals. The party came very nearly capturing a grizzly, or perhaps the grizzly came near capturing the party. The king of the mountains was met on the trail at night and escaped in the darkness. Mr. Fannin says he was a monster. Stuffed for the museum it would have been a fine acquisition to the already fine collection of native animals, and an effort will be made to capture one of the kind in the Spallumcheen mountains, where they are believed to be plentiful.

Both Messrs. Campbell and Fannin were astonished at what they saw in the valley. They did not believe that within the boundaries of British Columbia there was such a large area of splendid farming land, or that such magnificent crops of grain were grown as they saw in the Spallumcheen Valley. The incomparable beauties of the landscape, from the flat lands to the top of the Gold Range, which everywhere had the appearance of a vast park, was another revelation to them. Both gentlemen were so pleased with their trip and especially with what they saw of the resources of the country, that they have resolved themselves into a committee of two to encourage emigration to this garden spot of the province. It has too many advantages, they think, to remain as at present. With an agricultural population, a city of 10,000 people ought to flourish on Lake Okanagan. Spokane Falls has not the advantages, and is not sustained by a country as rich in natural resources, at this city of the future will possess; and yet Spokane Falls is a thriving city of perhaps twice the population of Victoria. The only thing that may eventually kill the district, and the thing that is now retarding its development, is monopoly in land. All the ranchers, from Hon. Forbes Vernon down, own from 10,000 acres to 1000, and use on the average about one-tenth of what they occupy. The valley wants population, but to secure population the ranches must be divided into small farms; and it wants a railway. When it secures these, it will be one of the most desirable places to reside in in all the broad continent.

A Large Establishment.

Mr. John Dooley intends opening a large feed and produce establishment in the De Cosmos block, Government street, within the next two weeks. Mr. Dooley purposes going into the business on a large scale, and will do his utmost to develop a trade with mainland farmers and those along the Island railway.

A Conservative Abroad.

"Mr. W. H. Ellis, of the Victoria Colonist, who is at present in Ottawa, says the reception given to the visiting Dominion cabinet ministers was lukewarm because of the feeling that Victoria has been badly treated by the Federal government."—Toronto Mail, Oct. 3.

An Assault Case.

Mons E. Escalet, of the Delmonico, was assaulted by his cook named Wilson, this morning, and somewhat bruised. A charge was laid against the cook which will be heard in the police court. This afternoon the cook preferred a counter charge, which will also come up for ventilation.

An Enjoyable Event.

The social dance in Blue Ribbon hall, Esquimalt, last night, was attended by about forty couples. The hall was tastefully decorated with bunting and a programme of twenty-two dances was gone through with to music by the Swiftsure's band of ten pieces. A splendid supper was the feature of the evening, prepared by the Misses Parker. At three o'clock this morning the National Anthem brought the festivities to a close.

Might Apply Here.

The police magistrate of Vancouver had two young men before him in court yesterday, charged with kicking up a noise in the theatre there. The magistrate was lenient and dismissed them with a caution that would apply to anyone at any future time for creating a similar disturbance. The caution is timely and would well apply itself to this city at times. But the trouble is to locate the offenders and then remove them. The last attempt in this city proved disastrous to the officers.

Marine Notes.

The City of Puebla will sail for San Francisco at one o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

The Umatilla arrived from San Francisco at 4 o'clock this morning, after a pleasant voyage of 66 hours.

The bark Don Nicholas arrived from Iquiqui last night with 400 tons of scrap iron. She will load anthracite coal at Port Moody for San Francisco.

The steamers Wellington and Costa Rica passed up this morning, bound for Departure Bay to load coal.

Mathews-Wolfenden.

The marriage of Miss Nellie F. F. Wolfenden with G. F. Mathews, of the firm of E. G. Prior & Co., attracted a large throng to St. James' Church last evening. The sacred edifice was specially decorated for the event, and presented a brilliant appearance during the ceremony, which was performed by the Ven. Archdeacon Scriven. The bride was given away by her father, Lieut.-Colonel Wolfenden and looked very bright and charming, attired in a bridal dress of white corded silk with veil and wreath of orange blossoms. The bridesmaids, Misses Katie, Roberta and Mabel, sisters of the bride, were attired in costumes of cream nun's veiling and drawn muslins hats, with baskets of flowers in their hands. The groom was supported by Mr. Geo. Pellinger. After the ceremony, a bridal supper was partaken of by about twenty-five guests. The gifts were numerous and costly on all sides, and Mr. Matthews and his fair bride carry the best wishes of all with them. The honeymoon will be spent in Portland, for which point the happy couple left this morning.

Potent Firewater.

This morning Sergt. of Provincial Police Langley went over to Macaulay's point to get the plunder cached there by the wharf thieves, and when coming back a canoe was sighted, the sail of which was flapping idly in the breeze, while over the stern of the craft hung the limp body of a Siwash. From all appearances the man was dead, and on closer investigation he was found to be dead—drunk. In the bottom of the canoe lay an empty bottle which had evidently once been filled with the best sixteen star brand of Chinatown whiskey, and this mutely told the tale of the savage's downfall.

Vigorous digs in the ribs slightly aroused the sleeping Indian from the drunken lethargy, but he was too much under the influence of the firewater to be able to take care of himself so his canoe was taken in tow by the kind-hearted police, who on arrival at the wharf arrested the Indian on a charge of drunk. For this he had to pay $5 in the court, but he can thank his stars that he finished the whiskey before he went to sleep, for had he not another $20 would have been added to the fine, as the charge would have been being in possession of an intoxicant.
